

Interviewing a Patient in Spanish

A valuable new feature of Instant Medical History is the ability to interview the patient in Spanish and return the information in English. IMH has a special feature to allow medical staff to change the interview language at any point in the interview. This will change the presentation of the questions, and enable the patient to proceed in their preferred language.

To see this feature, please look at an interview in process. The Language menu is circled. By using this menu, medical staff may pick “Spanish” to change the interviewing language.

By selecting English, the questionnaires are restored to an English presentation.

The reporting of the history information is identical for English and Spanish questionnaires.
